Hi Aryan,

Thanks for getting back in touch.

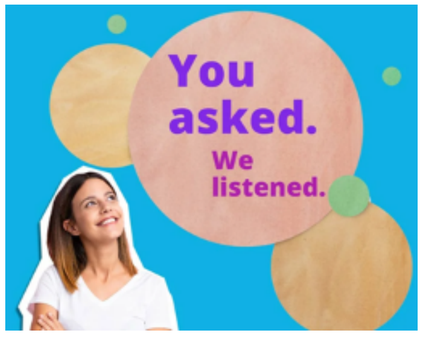

No, ALIS scores are not IQ scores. ALIS scores are standardised scores derived from the CEM ALIS assessment. ALIS/CEM IBE can be used to predict students' performance in A Level or International Baccalaureate Diploma examinations by establishing their level of ability, which we refer to as a baseline.

CEM do not offer IQ assessments, so we wouldn't convert our scores into IQ scores.

I hope the above is helpful to you. Best of luck with your research.

Kind regards,

Kelsey Peplow
