Question on your BA literature program

UEA Undergraduate Admissions Service <ug.admissions@uea.ac.uk> 17 October 2024 at 12:53
To: Aryan Thanki <athanki5670@gmail.com>

Hello Aryan

Thank you for your email. Entry requirements, both at Level 2 and Level 3, will differ at other universities resulting in differing metrics. We are confident that our entry requirements are set at the required level to allow of students to succeed on the course.

Best wishes

Avril Frary

Admissions Officer
University of East Anglia, Norwich Research Park, Norwich, NR4 7TJ, United Kingdom

University of East Anglia

UK Top 25 (Complete University Guide 2023) and UK Top 30 (The Times/Sunday Times 2024)
UK Top 20 for research quality (Times Higher Education Rankings for the Research Excellence Framework 2021)
World Top 50 (Times Higher Education Impact Rankings 2023)
World Top 100 for research citations (Times Higher Education World University Rankings 2023)
Athena SWAN Silver Award Holder (since 2019) in recognition of advancement towards gender equality for all (Advance HE)

From: Aryan Thanki <athanki5670@gmail.com>
Sent: Wednesday, October 16, 2024 3:37 PM
To: UEA Undergraduate Admissions Service <ug.admissions@uea.ac.uk>
Subject: Re: Question on your BA literature program

Hello

That's not what I was asking. I was asking why the mean GCSE 9-1 grades of UEA English Literature students and students at Russell Group universities differ so widely. At universities such as KCL, UCL and Oxbridge, the mean 9-1 grade in English Language for students admitted into the second year of their programs is close to a 9 (above 8.6- so over half have grade 9's at GCSE).

The same cannot be said for UEA, which according to my research has the mean 9-1 GCSE grade of second year English Literature students around a grade 7- so two whole grades below, on average, than the typical second year Russell Group student studying English Literature.

Why do these large differences exist?

Many thanks

Aryan

On Wed, 16 Oct 2024 at 11:53, UEA Undergraduate Admissions Service <ug.admissions@uea.ac.uk> wrote:

> Dear Aryan
>
> Thank you for your email; please accept my apologies for the delay in replying. I'm not quite sure what you are asking. Our entry requirements are all displayed on our website, and for our English Literature degree, our GCSE requirements are grade 4 or above in English Language and Mathematics.
>
> Best wishes
>
> Avril Frary
>
> Admissions Officer
> University of East Anglia, Norwich Research Park, Norwich, NR4 7TJ, United Kingdom
>
> University of East Anglia
>
> UK Top 25 (Complete University Guide 2023) and UK Top 30 (The Times/Sunday Times 2024)
> UK Top 20 for research quality (Times Higher Education Rankings for the Research Excellence Framework 2021)
> World Top 50 (Times Higher Education Impact Rankings 2023)
> World Top 100 for research citations (Times Higher Education World University Rankings 2023)
> Athena SWAN Silver Award Holder (since 2019) in recognition of advancement towards gender equality for all (Advance HE)
>
> ---
>
> From: Aryan Thanki <athanki5670@gmail.com>
> Sent: Tuesday, October 1, 2024 12:13 PM
> To: Admission@uea.ac.uk; Admissions <Admissions@uea.ac.uk>; English@uea.ac.uk
> Subject: Question on your BA literature program
>
> Hello
>
> Hope you are well
>
> I am enquiring about the BA Literature program you offer at UEA
>
> Why is it that the mean 9-1 GCSE grades of first and second year students are more or less the same (7.07 and 7.03 respectively?)
>
> Why is it that there isn't some sort of selection process that occurs automatically filtering out weaker candidates and only really allowing candidates of high ability to go through the program
>
> I ask because if you are studying English at a university such as KCL, UCL, Imperial etc the mean 9-1 GCSE grades or prior attainment of candidates in second year is actually really high, like around 8-9 implying that you somehow need that level of ability to pursue a English degree at these universities
>
> Thanks
>
> Aryan